NOTICE.—The Annual Catalogue of Books published during the Year 1881, with the Index, is now ready.

188 FLEET STREET: March 15, 1882.

THE Lord Mayor of London is practically anticipating the possibilities of the future by using his office, not only to promote the interests of the City proper, but of that 'greater London' which includes the densely populated districts south of the Thames. In this neighbourhood several unsuccessful attempts have been made to induce the ratepayers to adopt the Free Libraries Act, but the opposition—ascribed, we believe, rightly or wrongly, to the wire-pulling of the Lambeth publicans—has been too strong, and the vast riverside parish remains without the rate-aided book house which it so urgently needs as an agent for the elevation of the people. To meet the want, a Free Library has been established with most encouraging results, and on Friday afternoon the Chief Magistrate very properly lent the Mansion House for a meeting on its behalf, over which he presided. The Lord Mayor, in advocating the claims of the institution, expressed the regret which all intelligent people must share at the refusal of the ratepayers of such parishes as Lambeth to use the powers conferred upon them by Parliament, and as the matter is by the amended Act relegated to a poll by means of voting papers, instead of being decided by a show of hands at what is often a packed meeting of opponents, it is to be hoped that the more respectable ratepayers will exercise their influence in the right direction. Pending this desirable consummation, the Free Library, supported by donations of books and money is the only feasible means of meeting a great public need, and we entirely agree with the Lord Mayor in thinking that it is a desirable plan to combine the Library with a Working Men's College; or, to adopt his lordship's words, that while 'books in themselves are useful like other tools put into our hands, we need teaching to turn them to account.' The South London Library is able to show that it is appreciated by those for whom it is intended, and it has therefore the best claims to the support and co-operation of the public.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT WITH THE UNITED STATES.—We were led to understand a few days since that the negotiations between England and the United States on the copyright question were discontinued, but this morning we have a telegram in the Times stating that 'the negotiations between Secretary Frelinghuysen and the British Minister, Mr. Sackville West, for an international copyright treaty continue. Each Government submits a plan radically different. While the subject has not been abandoned, doubts exist as to whether the varying ideas of the publishers and authors of the two countries, on which the respective plans are based, can be reconciled.' We are therefore under the hope and impression that the subject will be fully considered and eventually be brought to a successful issue.

BOOKSELLERS' PROVIDENT INSTITUTION.—The Forty-fifth Annual General Meeting of this Institution was held in the committee room of the Sunday School Union, 56 Old Bailey, on Thursday the 9th of March. The chair was taken by the treasurer, John Miles, Esq., and he was supported by fourteen of the directors and about forty other members of the institution. The treasurer, in his opening remarks, made an especial reference to the state of the funds. In so doing, he reminded the members that this was the last of the ten years for which such liberal annual donations had not only been promised, but had been regularly paid, by some of the more wealthy members of the trade; and that at the annual meeting in 1880 he, the treasurer, had personally given a donation of £50 towards the increase of the funds, in addition to the annual donation of £25 for ten years given by the firm of which he was a member; and that he had further stated his intention of continuing to give that amount personally; and that his firm would continue their annual donation after the expiration of the ten years, provided that other members of the trade would contribute in like manner, although at a lesser annual amount; but that, hitherto, there had not been any response to the offer which he had thus made. Nevertheless, both he and the house with which he was connected, were still willing to abide by that offer, if only other houses and individuals would also make an effort to support an institution which had already effected so much lasting good to its poorer members. From the report it will be seen that upwards of £1,785 has been given in temporary and permanent assistance to its necessitous members during the past year, which is an increase of more than £280 granted in the preceding year. And then as the members advance in years there is greater need of assistance being given to them. And as both life and health are uncertain, it is important that young men should endeavour to make some provision for themselves and their families in the event of any illness or distress coming unexpectedly upon them. And to those who in all probability will never need assistance for themselves, the institution affords an admirable opportunity for them to render of their abundance towards the assistance of their poorer brethren of the trade. Subscriptions or donations will be thankfully received either by the treasurer, John Miles, Esq., 4 Stationers'-Hall Court, E.C., or by the secretary, Mr. Samuel Ives, 5 Warwick Lane, Paternoster Row, E.C.

The annual general meeting of the Royal Literary Fund was held on Wednesday, the 8th inst., at the chambers of the Corporation, 7 Adelphi Terrace, Strand, for the election of officers and other business. The President, the Earl of Derby, was in the chair, supported by Dr. William Smith, Sir Theodore Martin, K.C.B., Dr. B. W. Richardson, F.R.S., Sir George Bowen, G.C.M.G. (Governor of the Mauritius), Sir Patrick Colquhoun, Q.C., Dr. Birch, LL.D., and Messrs. Russell Sturgis, Charles Shaw, Anthony Trollope, George Godwin, F.R.S., Edward Thomas, F.R.S., Fred. Locker, J. H. Grain, and Hyde Clarke. Dr. William Smith presented the reports of the registrars, treasurers, and auditors. The cash statement showed receipts for 1881 amounting to £3,438. 1s. 8d., against disbursements £2,616. 12s. 4d., leaving a balance on January 1, 1882, of £821. 9s. 4d. The grants had absorbed £1,965, of which twenty male beneficiaries had received £895 and eighteen females £1,070. The property vested in the corporation, as the chairman remarked, was about £50,000. The committee reported that in consequence of the failing health and advanced age of their secretary, Mr. Octavian Blewitt, they had appointed Mr. Arthur Llewelyn Roberts, B.A., of Magdalen College, Oxford, clerk to the society at a salary of £100 per annum, being of opinion that Mr. Blewitt, after forty-three years' faithful and invaluable service, was entitled to have some assistance in the discharge of his duties. The meeting proceeded to elect the officers for the ensuing year, and to fill the vacancies caused by the deaths of Lord Beaconsfield, Dean Stanley, and Mr. Frederick Ouvry. Lord O'Hagan and the Right Hon. A. J. Beresford Hope, M.P., were elected Vice-Presidents; the Dean of Lincoln, a member of the Council; Lord O'Hagan and the Rev. Canon Robertson, members of the general committee; Mr. Russell Sturgis, a treasurer; and Mr. John Henry Grain, an auditor. Dr. Richardson announced that the negotiations entered into with the Guild of Literature, with a view to union between the two bodies, were still in progress, and it was hoped that a satisfactory result would be reached before the next annual meeting. After votes of thanks had been passed to various honorary office-bearers, it was resolved, on the motion of Sir Theodore Martin, seconded by Dr. William Smith, to present an address to the Queen, expressing abhorrence at the recent attempt upon her life, and thankfulness at its happy frustration. The chairman, in acknowledging the vote of thanks to himself, proposed by Mr. Anthony Trollope, congratulated the meeting on the prosperous condition of the fund, and announced, amid much applause, that the Marquis of Salisbury would take the chair at the annual dinner on the 3rd of May next.

VERE FOSTER AND JOHN WARD V. MARCUS WARD & CO.

Mr. John Ward objects, as reflecting 'most injuriously' upon him, to the remarks in the Publishers' Circular of Feb. 15 to the effect that Messrs. Marcus Ward & Co. 'claim' that when they paid him for his share of the concern they paid him for his share in the lithographic stones in dispute; and that Mr. Ward having secretly purchased from Mr. Vere Foster the whole of his interest, it seemed hard that he should now, as co-plaintiff with Mr. Foster, claim their restoration. We regret that Mr. John Ward should regard as an injurious reflection upon him the mere statement of the fact that Messrs. Marcus Ward & Co. make this claim, and intend to appeal against the decision.

Our statement as to the secret arrangement bore on the face of it no more serious 'reflection' than that which was made by the Master of the Rolls, from whose judgment (sent to us in pamphlet form, as we believed by Mr. Vere Foster himself) our information on this head was gathered. Our comments derived from this document and the affidavits filed in this trial were quite impartial. We think it requires much legal ingenuity to find a meaning in our words which they were never intended to convey, and certainly they were not inspired by any animus against Mr. John Ward, or with any thought of injuring his reputation. Our only feeling in the matter was one of regret that such a stupendous quarrel should have arisen out of such an apparently insignificant cause.

From The Newspaper Press Directory for 1882 we extract the following on the present position of the Newspaper Press:—

'There are now published in the United Kingdom 1,817 newspapers, distributed as follows:—

England—London...	...	...	...	375
Provinces	...	...	...	1,012-1,387
Wales	...	...	...	71
Scotland	...	...	...	183
Ireland	...	...	...	156
Isles...	...	...	...	20
Of these there are—124 Daily Papers published in England
	5	Ditto	Wales
	22	Ditto	Scotland
	16	Ditto	Ireland
	2	Ditto	British Isles

'On reference to the first edition of this useful Directory for the year 1846 we find the following interesting facts—viz. that in that year were published in the United Kingdom 551 Journals; of these 14 were issued daily—viz. 12 in England and 2 in Ireland; but in 1882 there are now established and circulated 1,817 papers, of which no less than 169 are issued daily, showing that the press of the country has more than trebled during the last thirty-six years. The increase in daily papers has been still more remarkable; the daily issues standing at 169 against 14 in 1846. The magazines now in course of publication, including the quarterly reviews, number 1,180, of which 326 are of a decidedly religious character, representing the Church of England, Wesleyans, Methodists, Baptists, Independents, Roman Catholics, and other Christian communities.'

The continuation of Mr. W. E. H. Lecky's 'History of England in the Eighteenth Century,' being the third and fourth volumes of that work, will also be published by Messrs. Longmans next month. It will carry the author's narrative and criticism from the accession of George III. to 1784—the opening year of Pitt's first Ministry.

The April number of 'Time' will contain the opening chapters of a new novel by the author of 'Phyllis,' 'Mrs. Geoffrey,' &c., entitled 'Portia; or, By Passions Rocked.'

Messrs. Crosby Lockwood & Co. announce for immediate publication the following scientific works: 'Modern Metrology: a Manual of the Metrical Units and Systems of the Present Century.' With an Appendix containing a proposed English System. The book will, we understand, be dedicated by permission to the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone. 'Continuous Railway Brakes.' By Michael Reynolds, Author of 'Locomotive Engine Driving.' This book will treat of the various systems now in use, and deal with their construction and performance. The work is intended for the general as well as the professional reader, and should prove of considerable interest, as the question of continuous brakes is now attracting the attention of the Government. 'The Action of Lightning, and the Means of Defending Life and Property from its Effects.' By Arthur Parnell, Major in the Corps of Royal Engineers. 'The Boiler Maker's Ready Reckoner.' By John Courtney. Edited by D. Kinnear Clark, M.Inst.C.E. 'A Practical Treatise on the Joints made and used by Builders in the Construction of various kinds of Engineering and Architectural Works, &c.' By J. W. Christy. 'Hints for Investors.' Being an explanation of the mode of transacting business on the Stock Exchange, with comments on the fluctuations and table of quarterly average prices of Consols since 1759, also a copy of the London daily stock and share list, the whole forming a practical handbook for intending investors. By Walter M. Playford, Sworn Broker. 'Mathematics as Applied to the Constructive Arts.' Illustrating the various processes of mathematical investigation by means of arithmetical and simple algebraical equations and practical examples. By Francis Campin, C.E., Author of 'Materials and Construction,' &c.

Messrs. Sampson Low and Co. will publish at once the 'Life of John Quincy Adams,' by John T. Morse, jun., being the first volume in their new series of 'American Statesmen,' issued by arrangement with Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin, & Co., of Boston, U.S., of which Mr. Morse is the editor. This series, as now planned, will contain from ten to fifteen 16mo. volumes, and the following are now in preparation:—'Alexander Hamilton,' by Henry Cabot Lodge; 'John Randolph,' by Henry Adams; 'Andrew Jackson,' by Prof. W. G. Sumner; 'Albert Gallatin,' by John Austin Stevens; 'James Monroe,' by D. C. Gilman; 'James Madison,' by Sidney Howard Gay; 'Benjamin Franklin,' by Colonel T. W. Higginson; 'Patrick Henry,' by Prof. Moses Coit Tyler; and 'Henry Clay,' by Hon. Carl Schurz. Lives of Jefferson, Webster, and others are expected from competent hands.

The forthcoming volume on 'Henry D. Thoreau,' by Mr. Frank B. Sanborn, in the 'American Men of Letters' series, published in this country by Messrs. Sampson Low & Co., will contain various new and entertaining anecdotes of the noted people in and about Concord, Mass., U.S.

Mr. J. A. Froude's biography of Carlyle will be published by Messrs. Longmans in the course of the present month, in two volumes, with portraits and illustrations etched on steel. Its title will be, 'Thomas Carlyle; a History of the first Forty Years of his life—1795 to 1835.' The same firm have in the press 'Three in Norway,' by Two of Them, with a map, and numerous illustrations by G. H. Ford, from original sketches; 'The English in America,' Virginia, Maryland, and the Carolinas, by J. A. Doyle, Fellow of All Souls' College, Oxford, in one volume 8vo.; 'A Garland from Greece,' being a new volume of poems by George Francis Armstrong, M.A., author of 'Ugone, a Tragedy,' &c.; and 'The Poems of Virgil,' translated into English prose, by John Conington, late Corpus Professor of Latin in the University of Oxford.

The new fashion of sixpenny reprints of standard works, inaugurated by Messrs. Longmans in their popular illustrated edition of Lady Brassey's 'Voyage in the "Sunbeam,"' exhibits every token of genuine vitality. In addition to the works mentioned in our issue of the 1st inst., Messrs. Routledge will shortly issue a complete edition of Mr. W. S. Gilbert's 'Bab Ballads,' with illustrations by the author, for sixpence; Messrs. Burns & Oates announce a sixpenny reprint of the late Mr. Maguire's 'Life of Father Mathew, the Apostle of Temperance'; Messrs. Chapman & Hall will publish at once a people's edition, at same price, of Carlyle's 'Sartor Resartus'; Messrs. Smith, Elder, & Co. have in preparation a sixpenny edition of Mrs. Gaskell's popular Manchester story of 'Mary Barton'; Messrs. Ward and Lock will publish 'Longfellow's Poetical Works,' 'The Pilgrim's Progress,' and 'The Arabian Nights,' while Messrs. Longmans and Co. will add to their sixpenny 'Sunbeam' series 'The Arctic Regions,' by Dr. G. Hartwig, Author of 'The Sea and its Living Wonders,' &c., extracted from the author's work on the 'Polar World.' These sixpenny editions are complete in one issue.

It has become so much the custom of late years for booksellers to diversify their stock by keeping articles which come under the head of fancy stationery, that supplying the various needs of retail businesses, and devising something fresh from time to time, by which customers may be attracted, has developed into an important branch of the wholesale and manufacturing trade. Foremost among those who have laid themselves out to provide the retail bookseller with saleable articles which, while their variety is great, shall not be too discordant with the original aim of a bookseller's shop, are Messrs. Baker & Son of Clifton. They, it will be seen from an advertisement elsewhere in our pages, not merely import articles of taste from abroad, they go so far as to make artistic knickknacks of various kinds in their own factories on the continent. The effect of this is that the retail dealer is enabled to offer handsome looking fancy articles at prices which can scarcely fail to secure purchasers. For particulars we must refer our readers to Messrs. Baker & Son's wholesale catalogue.

Farm and Home is the title of a weekly illustrated journal of agriculture.

The familiar Debrett comes before us this year as one thick volume in which are found Peerage, Baronetage, Knightage, and Companionage. The effect of this is that the work now comprehends about 1,500 closely printed pages. Among the contents are—addresses of clubs; courtesy titles, inferior titles, judges; lords-lieutenant; surnames of peers, alphabetically arranged; widows and younger children of peers. The editor says that since 1876 more than 420 pages have been added to 'Debrett.' It is difficult for anyone who has not been engaged in the preparation of such a work ever to imagine the labour which it must have cost. We gain a glimpse, however, from a statement at the end of the preface, that more than 25,000 proofs were sent to be corrected by the persons who are named in the book. Of these, mirabile dictu, no less than 18,000 appear to have been 'honoured.'

The March number of the Evangelical Magazine contains a very interesting article, with portrait, on the Rev. James Legge, Professor of Chinese, Oxford.

Mr. William Andrews, of the Literary Club, Hull, announces a new work entitled 'Typographical Curiosities.'

We understand that a serial issue of Cassell's 'Book of Sports and Pastimes' will be published in sixpenny monthly parts. The first number will be ready on March 27, the work to be completed in fifteen parts.

Miss Braddon's new three-volume novel will be entitled 'Mount Royal,' the scene being placed in one of the wildest and most beautiful parts of Cornwall, although perhaps the least visited.

A fourth edition of Edward James Jones' 'Handbook of British Phonography' has just been issued by Messrs. S. W. Partridge & Co.

Messrs. S. W. Partridge & Co. have in the press, to be issued in a few days, a new work entitled 'The British Opium Policy and its Results to India and China.' It is dedicated, by special permission to Henry Richards, Esq., M.P., and will be illustrated with numerous engravings.

The same publishers also announce a new work, entitled 'Earth's Diamonds, their Origin, Production, and Uses,' by the Rev. Henry H. Bourn. It will be illustrated by engravings and diagrams, and give an account of the formation of coalfields, the manner of obtaining coal, and its varied uses, &c.

The Paris Correspondent of the Times says that Messrs. Quantin have just published a little book by M. Alphonse Bertrand, an official summary writer in the Senate, entitled 'L'Organisation Française,' explaining and describing in detail the different branches of the French administration and endeavouring to do for France what Mr. de Fonblanque did for England. The work, which professes to be written for the use of schools, contains in a short compass a great deal of very useful matter, and is, I believe, the first attempt to condense into one volume, written in popular form, the whole system of government in France.

The Cambridge University Library Syndicate report in favour of an increase in the annual payment made to the funds of the library, which is now £3,000 a year. It appears that up to the year 1866, the capitation tax of 1s. 6d. a quarter, imposed on all members of the University, excepting sizars, was given wholly to the library. This produced for the year ending Michaelmas, 1865, the sum of £2,495. 6s. 6d. In 1866 this capitation tax of 1s. 6d. per quarter was abolished, and a capitation tax of 4s. 3d. per quarter was imposed on all members of the University without distinction, and a fixed sum of £2,500 contributed annually towards the maintenance of the library, this sum being increased to £3,000 in 1876. From a table, compiled by the Syndicate, it appears that in the last fifteen years the library has lost £4,878 by the arrangement entered into in 1866, or, in other words, if the capitation tax of 1s. 6d. had been continued, an average of £325 a year would have been paid to the library more than actually received. They recommend that in future £3,500 per annum be voted from the chest to the library, and, in view of the great loss to the funds of the library by the present arrangement, that the debt on the general fund of the library, amounting to £1,181. 8s. 4d., be discharged from the University chest by instalments extending over four years.

Messrs. Ackermann & Co., of Regent Street, have sent us a few coloured cards intended to be commemorative of Easter. The majority of them are combinations of flowers, birds, and so forth. There are also some larger cards which represent apparently various cities in a setting of much colour, the relevancy of which to the coming season is not quite apparent.

Messrs. Beal & Co., of St. Paul's Churchyard, have shown us some specimens of Easter cards in various sizes in colour and gold, with variegated printing of the verses and mottos. Some of the cards are arranged so as to serve as registers of confirmation and first communion.

We are asked to say that, in order to meet the convenience of Mr. Sims Reeves, the concert in aid of the funds of the Printers' Corporation will be postponed until Saturday, May 20.

Mr. Richard R. Holmes, Librarian, Windsor Castle, had the honour of being invited to the ceremony of the baptism of the infant child of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, at Windsor Castle on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tennyson on Saturday entertained Mr. and Miss Gladstone, the Hon. Lady C. Stepney, Mr. and Mrs. George Howard, Herr Joachim, and a select party, at dinner at their residence in Eaton Square, and in the evening held a reception which was numerously attended.

The 'Year-Book of the Church,' which Mr. Elliot Stock announces for early issue, will, we hear, contain a classified list of all works bearing on theology and religion published during 1881.

Messrs. Barnicott & Son are preparing a new issue of their general book catalogue. The object of this catalogue is to present a careful and yet extensive selection of the best books and most useful editions in current English literature, an approximation as nearly as may be to the stock of a good bookseller's shop; books, moreover, which can be procured at once by order. Thus Messrs. Barnicott & Son give every bookseller the opportunity of distributing among his customers information regarding a goodly array of literature, merely at the cost of buying so many hundred copies of a catalogue which bears their name. Anyone who attempted such a compilation for himself would soon perceive what labour, attention, and expenditure of time are saved by using Messrs. Barnicott & Son's catalogue, which comprises now, we believe, more than a hundred pages.

Messrs. T. & T. Clark, of Edinburgh, will shortly publish a third edition of Prof. Watts' 'The Newer Criticism, &c. : a Reply to W. Robertson Smith's Lectures.' The same firm have in the press a new volume of their Bible-Class Handbooks, viz., 'St. Paul's Epistle to the Hebrews,' by the Rev. Prof. Davidson, Professor of Hebrew in the New College, Edinburgh, and author of the well-known Hebrew Grammar.

The price of Cassell's édition de luxe of 'Evangeline' is, it is announced, raised to the trade, and a further increase will be made as copies become scarce.

Mr. Hodgson, the recently appointed librarian of the Royal Academy, has been elected a member of the Athenæum Club under the special powers given to the Committee.

The Rev. J. E. Vaux's articles on Preaching, written for the Church Times, have been published in a volume by Mr. Palmer.

The nineteenth issue of Mr. Martin's annual, 'The Statesman's Year Book,' is announced by Messrs. Macmillan.

The Oxford Press Edition of the New Testament, giving in parallel columns the text as actually adopted for the Authorised Version (without the alterations which have since crept in), and the text adopted in the recent revision, is nearly ready for issue. It will be published in a variety of sizes.

'Jumbo' has proved a source of extensive revenue to the vendors of street literature, the biographies and pictures of the big animal having found a ready sale, not only outside the Zoological Gardens, but in all the principal thoroughfares.

Mrs. Gaskell's 'Mary Barton' is to form one of Messrs. Smith, Elder, & Co.'s 'sixpenny' volumes.

The promise of the Scottish Review will, it is announced, be certainly fulfilled, the support already accorded to the scheme having been so considerable.

The series of articles on 'Art in Everything,' published in the last volume of the Churchman's Shilling Magazine, and which received much favourable notice, will, we hear, shortly be issued, with additions, in a separate form.

The papers on the constitution and growth of the Church which are now appearing in Church Bells are, we understand, from the pen of Canon Curteis, Professor of Divinity at King's College, London.

Messrs. Sotheby, Wilkinson, & Hodge, on the 1st and 2nd inst., sold a collection of autographs and literary documents, which fetched large prices. Among the most important were a letter of Samuel Taylor Coleridge to George Dyer, acknowledging some help 'sufficient to extricate him from his difficulties' (one guinea); an order and another document signed by the Protector Cromwell (three guineas and £2. 7s.); a warrant signed by Queen Elizabeth (three guineas); Charles Dickens, dated Devonshire Terrace, Dec. 16, 1839 (£2. 10s.); Benjamin Franklin (£4. 15s.); David Garrick, relating to his power of mimicking King George III. (£5. 10s.); Dr. Johnson, dated from Pembroke College, Oxford, only a few months before his death (£2. 8s.); three letters of Charles Lamb realised £1. 3s., 13s., and £3 respectively; a letter of Lord Nelson to Lady Hamilton was knocked down at £8. 15s.; one of Alexander Pope at £7; and one of Matthew Prior at 13 guineas. There were several letters of Shelley, Sheridan, Southey, Horace Walpole, George Washington, Lawrence Sterne, John Wilkes, David Hume, Lord Chatham, Thomas Campbell, Sir Walter Scott, Wordsworth, Byron, and Burns, for which large prices were obtained. Several original MSS. of poems by Thomas Moore fetched prices from five guineas to £24; and the autograph MS. of Thackeray's 'Chronicle of the Drum' fell to the hammer at £20.

The library of a gentleman, whose name was not given, sold last week by Messrs. Sotheby, Wilkinson, & Hodge, contained some rare first editions of English authors, all finely bound by Redford, Riviere, and others of our best bibliopagists, which brought very high prices. 'England's Parnassus,' by R. Allot, 1600, sold for £15. 5s.; Barham's 'Ingoldsby Legends,' 1st edit., illustrated by Cruikshank and Leech, £17. 5s.; Burns' Poems, 1st edit., Kilmarnock, 1786, £73; Burns' Poems, 2nd edit., 1793, £20. 10s.; Byron's Poems, 1st edit., Newark, 1807, £16. 10s.; De Foe's 'Robinson Crusoe,' 1st edit., 3 vols., plates, 1719-20, £39. 10s.; Cervantes Saavedra, 'Travels of Persiles and Sigismunda,' 1619, £9; Fenn (Sir J.) 'Letters of the Paston Family,' 1st edit., 1787, £9. 5s.; Appiani, de Bellis civilibus, &c., Ven., 1477, woodcut borders, £14; Aristophanis Comediarum, 1st edit., Ven., Ald., 1498, £14. 5s.; Boccaccio's 'First English Translation,' 1620-25, woodcuts, £17; Drayton's 'Polyolbion,' frontispiece portrait of Prof. Henry, and maps, 1613-22, £22. 10s.; Dryden's Fables, 1797, illustrated by Bartolozzi from designs of Lady Diana Beauclerc, worked on satin, bound by Staggenmeier and Welcher, £21; 'Euclidis Elementa,' 1st edit., Ven., E. Ratdolt, 1482, £10. The large collection of first editions of the works of Charles Dickens brought high prices. 'The Pickwick Papers,' £22 ; 'Village Coquettes,' a comic opera, 1836, £8. 10s. ; 'Sunday Under Three Heads,' 1836, £12. 5s. ; 'Sketches by Boz,' with autograph, 1836, £15. 10s. ; 'Little Dombey,' 1858, this copy of a book, which appears to have escaped the bibliographers, was presented by the author to his son Charles, £20. 10s. ; 'Tom D'Urfey,' 'Pills to purge Melancholy,' 6 vols., 1719, £20 ; Keats' Poems, 1st edit., uncut, 1817, with autograph inscription to his friend, T. Severn ('the author consigns this copy to the Severn with all his heart'), £18. 10s. ; Keats' 'Endymion,' 1st edit., 1818, £6. 10s. ; Keats' 'Lamia,' 'Isabella,' 'Eve of St. Agnes,' and other poems, 1st edit., 1820, £6. 10s. ; J. S. Knowles's 'Virginus,' 1820, with MS. stage directions, and other first editions of his plays, 19 vols., £10. 10s. ; C. Lever's novels, 25 vols., £31. 10s. ; Milton's Poems, 1st collective edit., 1645, £18. 15s. ; Molière's 'Le Sicilien, ou l'Amour Peintre,' comédie, 1st edit., Paris, 1668, £44. 10s. ; Gray's 'Elegy,' 1st edit., 1751, £19 ; this copy sold in 1880 for £21. 10s. Taylor's (J., the water poet) Workes, 1630, £17 ; Ritson's works, songs and ballads, 32 vols., £45 ; Rogers' 'Italy' and poems, 2 vols., 1830-34, finely bound by Bedford, £59 ; Shelley, 'Address to the Irish People,' Dublin, 1812, £8. 15s. ; 'Queen Mab,' 1st edit., 1813, £12. 15s. ; 'Alastor,' and other poems, 1st edit., 1816, £7. 10s. ; 'Laon and Cythna,' £7. 2s. 6d. ; 'Adonais,' with author's autograph inscription, Pisa, 1821, £43 ; Sterne's 'Tristram Shandy' 1st edit., 1760-67, £7. 10s. ; Swift's 'Gulliver's Travels,' 1st edit., 1726, £8. 5s. ; Tennyson (Alfred) 'The Lover's Tale,' with cutting from The Times, 1833, £33. This copy, the only one known, was sold in 1878 at Pickering's sale for £41. 'Maud,' and other poems, 1st edit., with MS. additions, 1855, £8. 10s. ; another copy, with author's corrections, 1856, £9 ; 'The Victim,' 1st edit., privately printed, 4to. 1867, £7. 5s. ; 'Gareth and Lynette,' proof sheets, 1872, with rough draft of the poems and corrections, 1872, £15 ; Spenser's 'Faërie Queene,' Books I. to III., 1st edit., and 2nd edit. Books I. to III., with 1st edit. of Books IV. to VI., 1st edit. of 'Colin Clouts,' 1595. This was John Evelyn's copy, and bears his monogram in gold on sides and back, £91, sold in Dr. Laing's sale for £120. Spencer's 'Complaints,' 1st edit., W. Ponsonbie, 1591, £9 ; White's 'Natural History of Selborne,' 1st edit., £7 ; Turner's 'England and Wales,' proofs, complete, £137. The three days' sale of 697 lots realised £3,366. 12s. 6d.

Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin, & Co., of Boston and New York, have just issued a new catalogue which comprises all their publications with the exception of those in law and medicine. School books also are not included. The new catalogue is a tasteful example of printing upon toned paper, extending to 64 pages octavo. The wrapper, on tinted paper, is a delicate and beautiful piece of symbolical work. The distinguishing feature, however, of Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin, & Co.'s new catalogue is that it is a 'portrait catalogue' ; that is, it is enlivened and made interesting by portraits, in their appropriate places, of some of the principal writers whose works are enumerated. Thus, Mr. Aldrich, Mr. C. D. Warner, Mr. Howells, Mr. Whittier, not to mention many familiarly known faces, and a pretty portrait of Mrs. Stowe, make this new example of a publisher's catalogue interesting, if merely to turn over the leaves, which, by the way, is a great step towards 'business.'

Messrs. Calmann-Lévy, of Paris, have just published in an octavo volume the diplomatic souvenirs of M. G. Rothan, formerly Minister Plenipotentiary to Germany, under the title of 'L'Affaire du Luxembourg, le Prélude de la Guerre, 1870.' The work, which had already partly appeared in the Revue des Deux Mondes, contains additional documents, which greatly enhance its diplomatic and historical value.

Mr. Joel Chandler Harris, author of 'Uncle Remus,' is writing a story of old slave life in the Southern States of America.

Messrs. Orange Judd Co., New York, U.S., have in press a practical treatise on 'Sweet Potato Culture,' by James Fitz. It will contain full instructions from starting the plants to harvesting the crop ; also a chapter on the Chinese yam. Another work to be issued by them is 'The Chemistry of the Farm,' by R. Warrington, treating of the relations of chemistry to agriculture.

Messrs. D. Appleton & Co., New York, U.S., have among their forthcoming publications 'Physical Education ; or, The Health-Laws of Nature,' by Felix L. Oswald, M.D. ; 'A Treatise on Insanity,' by W. A. Hammond, M.D. ; the 'Bryant Birthday Book ;' and 'The Brain and its Functions,' by J. Luys, Physician to the Hospice de la Salpêtrière, which will appear in the 'International Scientific Series.' Other books in preparation by this house are 'Stellar Theology and Masonic Astronomy ; or, the Origin and Meaning of Ancient and Modern Mysteries explained,' by Robert Hewitt Brown ; 'The Song Wave ; a Collection of Songs and Ballads with Music,' for schools, by A. S. Perkins ; the second volume of 'The Financial History of the United States,' by Alfred S. Bolles ; 'History of the Formation of the Constitution of the United States,' by George Bancroft, in 2 vols. ; and a new translation by Jehu Baker of Montesquieu's 'Considerations on the Causes of the Grandeur and the Decadence of the Romans,' with introduction, notes, and analytical index.

'Ireland of To-day,' by Margaret F. Sullivan, is announced by J. M. Stoddard & Co., Chicago, U.S.

'A Parisian Year,' by Henry Bacon, illustrated by the author, will be one of the early spring publications of Messrs. Roberts Brothers, Boston, U.S. Mr. Bacon is a Boston artist, brother of the managing editor of the Boston Advertiser, who has resided in Paris for many years, and his book is to be a record of how one may be supposed to exist in Paris from January to December, from the standpoint of the author's own personal experience.

Messrs. Little, Brown, & Co., Boston, U.S., announce for early publication the following law books:—Schouler on the 'Law of Husband and Wife,' the eleventh edition of Angell and Ames on 'Corporations,' the third edition of Bigelow on the 'Law of Estoppel,' and the third edition of Perry on 'Trusts.' The same firm have also in preparation 'A Complete Digest of the United States Supreme Court Decisions, from its Organisation to 1882 inclusive,' in two octavo volumes.

Messrs. Henry Carey Baird & Co., Philadelphia, U.S., have in press a new and important work, in one volume octavo, on Political Economy, by Dr. William Elder, one of the most eminent disciples of Carey and Colwell, and author of 'Questions of the Day.' It is entitled 'Conversations on the Principal Subjects of Political Economy.'

The Jewish question will be a prominent feature of succeeding numbers of The Century Magazine. This month Prof. James Bryce, M.P., the historian, writes about Lord Beaconsfield, and incidentally about the Jews in general. In April, Miss Emma Lazarus will answer the question, 'Was Lord Beaconsfield a Representative Jew?' In the same number, Madame Ragozin will describe the present situation in Russia, from a Russian point of view. A reply to Madame Ragozin, by a Jewish writer, will appear in the May number, and other papers will appear, in which the relations between the Israelites and Christians in America will be discussed.

Mr. L. Lum Smith, an enterprising publisher, has begun the issue in Philadelphia of The Oriental Casket, a literary monthly, to be edited by Mr. Emerson Bennett.

Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia, U.S., have become the sole publishers of Bouvier's 'Law Dictionary' and 'Institutes,' well-known standards in legal literature. They have also issued 'The Law of Stock Brokers,' by Messrs. Arthur and George Biddle, a work intended for persons interested in public stocks, as well as to the legal profession. Messrs. Lippincott & Co. will also issue shortly a work on the 'Indian Tribes of the United States,' edited by Francis S. Drake. It will be in two quarto volumes, illustrated by a hundred steel engravings. 'The Book of the Dead' is the strange and rather funereal title of George H. Boker's latest volume of poems, soon to be issued by the same firm, and said to contain the strongest work of his life.

There will soon be published 'The Coues' Check List of North American Birds,' revised to date, and entirely re-written under the direction of the author, with a dictionary of the etymology, orthography, and orthoëpy of the scientific names, a concordance of previous lists, and a catalogue of his ornithological publications. The publishers will be Messrs. Estes & Lauriat, of Boston, U.S.

Dr. Joseph F. Edwards, late editor of the American Specialist, and now assistant editor of The Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter, well known by several little books already published, has in press an essay on Vaccination, giving arguments pro and con.

A full and carefully edited edition of the works of the late Mr. Sidney Lanier will be issued in the spring.

The late Rev. Samuel Johnson, of Andover, Mass., U.S.A., was engaged previous to his death upon the third volume ('Persia') of his 'Oriental Religions, and their Relation to Universal Religion.'

Royal authors, it seems, are coming to the front. The Queen of Roumania, under the pseudonym of 'Carmen Sylva,' is about to publish an epic poem entitled 'Ahasuerus.' King Oscar of Sweden has completed a play in five acts, called 'The Castle of Kronberg;' and nearer home, the Princess Louise has made for Good Words some drawings of Quebec, with foot-notes, illustrating a long poem of her husband's on Quebec, the sketches being, it is said, decidedly more vivid than the poem. Last on the list comes the King of Bavaria, to whom is attributed a remarkable volume which has just appeared in Paris, under the title of 'Mission Actuelle des Souverains, par l'un d'eux.'

It is said that the 'Memoirs of the late Dr. Edwin H. Chapin,' in course of preparation by the Rev. Sumner Ellis, is nearly completed for publication this spring.

Messrs. James R. Osgood & Co., Boston, U.S., have published an interesting memorial of the 150th anniversary of Washington's birthday in 'Original Portraits of Washington,' by Elizabeth Bryant Johnston. The work comprises sixty portraits, reproduced by the heliotype process, from paintings and sculptures by John Singleton Copley, John Trumbull, Gilbert Stuart, Giuseppe Ceracchi, Antonio Canova, Sir Francis Chantrey, Hiram Powers, and others. The same firm have now ready a revised and enlarged edition of 'American Inventions and Improvements in Breech-loading Small Arms, Heavy Ordnance,' &c., including a chapter on sporting arms and life-saving projectiles, by Gen. C. B. Norton, U.S.A.

Since our last publication the following Publishers have issued books, full titles of which will be found in the New Book List:—

OBITUARY.

Sir Charles Wyville Thompson, who died on the 10th inst. at Linlithgow, was known as the author of works on 'The Voyage of the Challenger' and 'The Depths of the Sea.' At the request of the Treasury, Sir Charles undertook the direction of the publication of the scientific results of the Challenger expedition, and he continued until the beginning of the present year to discharge the duties of director of the investigation and editor of the reports. He had hoped to be able to complete the volume containing the narrative of the cruise of the Challenger.

Professor Jarrett, Canon of Ely, who died last week, had compiled a 'Grammatical Index to the Hebrew text of the Book of Genesis,' and several other works, chiefly of a philological character.

Dr. John Muir, who died at Edinburgh on the 7th inst., was well known as the author of 'Sanskrit Texts,' a standard work in great repute, and more recently published numerous metrical translations from the Sanskrit.

TRADE CHANGES.

Messrs. George Norman & Son, printers, of Maiden Lane, Covent Garden, have removed to new and extensive premises in Hart Street, Covent Garden, W.C.

Mr. Bernhd. Ollendorff, in consequence of the warehouse, 53 Jewin Street, proving too small to meet the increasing demands of his business, has removed to more commodious premises, No. 4 Jewin Street, E.C.

Mr. E. C. Swayne has recently been admitted a partner in the firm of Messrs. E. P. Dutton & Co. of New York.

Messrs. John Maclaren & Son, booksellers and stationers, Edinburgh, have recently disposed of their stock and business connection to Messrs. Macniven & Wallace of the same town.

Messrs. Beacon & Nutt, of Birmingham, have recently dissolved partnership. Mr. Beacon continues the business at the old-established place in Pershore Street, and Mr. Nutt has commenced business under the title of Messrs. C. J. Nutt & Co. at Smallbrook Street, Birmingham.

Books Received:—

From Messrs. Cassell, Petter, & Galpin.—'Concise Cyclopædia,' part 1. Messrs. Cassell, Petter, and Galpin have been happily inspired in the projecting of an illustrated work which shall comprise answers to questions arising within the whole circle of knowledge; for the function of a cyclopædia is, we take it, to answer inquiries on all matters, however diverse. The cheapness, or otherwise, of a book is best understood by comparison. Thus, by way of example, at the present moment a good gazetteer costs about as much money as Messrs. Cassell's Concise Cyclopædia will be completed for. In it we shall have natural history, architecture, botany, archæology, chemistry, geography, &c., all dealt with in their turn.

From the same.—'Popular Fallacies, regarding Trade and Foreign Duties: being the "Sophismes Économiques" of Frédéric Bastiat.' Adapted to the present time, by Edward Robert Pearce. This publication, issued under the auspices of the Cobden Club, is an abridgment from the translation of Bastiat's well-known work published by the late Mr. Porter, author of 'The Progress of the Nation,' in 1846. Mr. Pearce puts it forth in its present form as a clear utterance on the principles of free trade, calculated to counteract what he regards as the mischievous doctrine of the so-called 'Fair Trade League.'

From Messrs. Dean & Son.—'Debrett's Illustrated House of Commons and Judicial Bench for 1882.' Compiled and edited by Robert Henry Mair, LL.D. Personally revised by the Members of Parliament and the Judges. The spécialité of this work is that it is the only one of its class which furnishes the armorial bearings of Members of Parliament, Judges, and of parliamentary boroughs. The number of blank escutcheons is larger than was formerly the case, and the Irish members of Home Rule fame seem to be altogether innocent of any acquaintance with the mysteries of the Herald's College; but gentle or simple fare alike at Dr. Mair's hands, and he gives full details of the career of each member both in and out of Parliament. The additional matter, which fills a considerable space in the volume, will be found of special value; and for the use of Parliamentary tyros the editor gives a 'Dictionary of Technical Parliamentary Expressions and Practices;' while for the newspaper reader, the table of changes since the General Election, the calendar of bye-elections and party gains will be useful for reference. Among all the annuals which reach us, Debrett is still entitled to the first rank as regards accuracy of detail, and for its general excellence of 'get up' whether as to printing, paper, or binding.

From 'Home Words' Publishing Office.—'Talks with the People by Men of Mark.' 'H.R.H. Prince Leopold, K.G., Duke of Albany.' Edited by the Rev. C. Bullock, B.D. Mr. Symington supplies a brief biographical sketch—so brief that he does not even tell us the name of the well-known tutor, friend, and we may add patient nurse and companion of His Royal Highness; Mr. Wilton supplies a pretty rondeau in view of the Prince's approaching marriage; and the editor culls and classifies extracts from his speeches. A portrait forms a frontispiece to the little book which will doubtless find many readers at the present moment. We quote Mr. Wilton's pretty lines:

Sweetness and light thy father brought,
A life with wealth of goodness fraught,
Whose princely footsteps will abide
While flowing years more brightly glide
For all his rich example wrought.

And well and nobly hast thou caught
His mantle, decked with golden thought,
And, like him, scatterest far and wide
Sweetness and light!

Long may high thinking be thy pride,
With elevating deeds allied;
Thou shalt not labour, Prince, for nought
A people's love shall come unsought,
With hers, who brings thee as thy bride
Sweetness and light!

From Messrs. Crosby Lockwood & Co.—De Fivas' 'French Grammar.' This is the forty-fifth edition of a now famous book. The work has been enriched by an appendix on the history and etymology of the French language, by Professor Roubaud. Among the works which have been consulted in the preparation of M. De Fivas' Grammaire des Grammaires are Brachet's Dictionnaire étymologique; Max Müller's Lectures on Language; Diez' Grammaire comparée des langues romanes; Shuckhardt's Vocalism of vulgar Latin. These names alone show that success has been won by extensive research.

From Messrs. Macmillan & Co.—'Charles Lamb.' By Alfred Ainger. A volume of the publishers' admirable series of 'English Men of Letters,' edited by Mr. John Morley. The author in the present instance, although untitled on the title-page, is well known in London as the Reader at the Temple, whose scholarly and thoughtful sermons on Sunday afternoons in the famous Round Church are much appreciated by its cultured congregation, while in the northern suburb of Hampstead, from which he dates his preface, he is one of the most popular lecturers of the University Extension Association, his favourite topic being English Literature. Mr. Ainger's qualifications for his work were, therefore, unquestionable, and apart from his gleanings from all available records, he has given us a sketch of Lamb, faithfully drawn from his writings, which, as he justly observes, 'abound in biographical matter.' He also expresses his obligations to the well-known volumes of Mr. Justice Talfourd. Mr. Ainger's long association with the Temple gives him a certain claim to be Lamb's biographer and annotator, for it was within its precincts, or 'pleasant places' as Lamb himself terms them, that the charming writer was born and passed the first seven years of his life. But apart from the sympathetic account which Mr. Ainger gives us of Lamb's career, we have in him a competent critic of the master's works, and especially of those reviews which formed no unimportant part of Elia's literary contributions to the serials of his day. On his productions in this by-path of literature, Mr. Ainger says:—'There is no difficulty in detecting the limitations of Lamb as a critic. In a most remarkable degree he had the defects of his qualities. Where his heart was, there his judgment was sound. Where he actively disliked, or was passively indifferent, his critical powers remained dormant. He was too fond of paradox, too much at the mercy of his emotions or the mood of the hour, to be a safe guide always. But where no disturbing forces interfered, he exercised a faculty almost unique in the history of criticism.' Mr. Ainger also pays a tribute to Lamb's work, which was unquestionably his chief title to honour, in recalling attention to certain forgotten writers. In this respect our author says with truth, 'He did more than recall attention to them. He flashed a light from himself upon them, not only heightening every charm and deepening every truth, but making even their eccentricities beautiful and lovable.' To those who already know Lamb's works the book will need no commendation; to those who do not we can offer it as a safe and intelligent guide.

From Messrs. W. Reeves. — 'Courvoisier's Violin Playing.' This little manual has been translated and edited by Professor Krehbiel, of the college at Cincinnati. It may be useful to mention that the author of the work, the exact title of which is 'The Technics of Violin Playing,' is a pupil of the celebrated Herr Joachim, from whom he received a public testimonial for the fidelity and skill with which his teachings had been grasped and utilised. In the preface of the book before us a letter from Herr Joachim is printed, in which a conviction is expressed that 'material aid' to young violin players will be found in Herr Courvoisier's Technics. There are numerous diagrams in illustration of various positions.

From Richards, Slater, & Co., Grahamstown. — 'Eastern Province Year Book and Commercial Directory for 1882.' A well-arranged and comprehensive volume, issued from the Journal office at Grahamstown, in which the colonies of the Eastern Province of South Africa are carefully described. Every branch of government, trade, and commerce is fully treated, and the religious bodies also meet with fair and impartial handling, while in addition to the official information we have directories of the principal inhabitants of the chief towns and settlements. The arrangement of the book leaves nothing to be desired, and our colonial confrères are to be congratulated upon its appearance. It is, we see, the eleventh issue.

From Messrs. Smith, Elder, & Co. — 'Irish Essays and Others,' by Matthew Arnold. The 'others' are Ecce, convertimur ad gentes; Future of Liberalism; Speech at Eton; French play in London; Copyright; Preface to poems. Let us give an extract from the essay on copyright, its opening paragraph:

George Sand died in 1876, and her publisher, Michel Levy, died the year before, in 1875. In May 1875, just after Michel Levy's death, Madame Sand wrote a letter in which she describes Levy's character, habits, treatment of authors, his conception of the book trade and of its prospects. It was by this conception and by the line which he boldly took in pursuance of it that he was original and remarkable; a main creator, says Madame Sand, of our new modus vivendi in literature; one whose disappearance is, not the disappearance of a rich man merely, but of an intellectual force.

Here is an autobiographical fragment, shadowing forth the experiences of an author:

I have never received, from first to last, a hundred pounds from America, though my books have been, I believe, much reprinted there. Mr. Conant will probably say that I am one of those authors 'whose sale is not remunerative,' and does not come to much either here or there. And perhaps, according to the grand scale by which he weighs things, this may very well be true. Only, if I had not received more than a hundred pounds here or in America either, during the quarter of a century that I have gone up and down, as the mockers say, preaching sweetness and light, one could never have managed to drag on, even in Grub Street, for all these years.

From Mr. Walter Smith (late Mozley). — 'Talks about the Laws we Live Under; or, at Langley Night School.' By Charlotte M. Yonge. Those who appreciate the value of the catechetical method in educating the poor and comparatively uninstructed, will welcome this effort, which comes from no 'prentice hand, to give, in a form intelligible to village lads of from eighteen to fourteen years, some idea of the legal system of the British Empire. Beginning with the policeman, the visible embodiment of the majesty of the law to the rural eye, Miss Yonge passes upward through the 'great unpaid,' the jury, the solicitors, and the bar, to the bench, and then proceeds to describe the complex system which these functionaries have to administer. In this way a mass of useful information is given on many subjects on which the minds of the people sadly need to be informed, including among the rest, rates and taxes, revenue, poor law, Church patronage, the three estates of the realm, and the government. This is the sound piece of advice which 'George' gets in the last conversation, on how one can affect the whole nation: 'By one's honest faithful life first of all. The nation is made up of men and women. Each right-minded, well-principled person makes it stronger, as each idler makes it weaker. Your life first then, and next your vote. On the one hand, keep pure from bribery and corruption; and, on the other, beware, before all things, of being led away by such papers and such men as work on people's passions and greediness to try to persuade them that all authorities are tyrants and oppressors.'

From Mr. Southey, Merthyr Tydfil. — 'Confessions of a Scribbler.' This is the tirade of a disappointed author. It extends to more than 250 closely printed pages crown octavo. On the title page is a sentence in small print, which is as it were a key to the book and to the tone of it. 'Manifest throughout it, is one over-ruling feeling under various forms, the conviction that, in bad critics and sordid booksellers, learning has to contend with her worst foes.' If this utterance had the name of some great author attached to it, the words would have a certain impressiveness. As it is, marks of quotation being printed about the sentence and no name of an author attached, one can hardly escape the conclusion that the quotation from an eminent author is from the hand that wrote the book it is quoted in. Quotation, indeed, appears to be the author's forte, or, rather, his foible. Each of his critics is assailed for misquotation, the author of 'Confessions of a Scribbler' all the while unconsciously illustrating a familiar proverb by mangling the Bible, Shakspeare, Byron, the French language, and the very commonest sayings, when he cites them. It must always, we suppose, be a matter of opinion to some extent whether a book has been rightly judged by a critic. In this case the author of the 'Confessions of a Scribbler' has spared the critics of his novel the trouble of defending themselves, by writing a second book, from which we may infer the quality of the first.

From Mr. Edward Stanford. — 'Geographical Readers for Elementary Schools.' By Charlotte M. Mason. Book II., Standard II.—The British Empire and the Great Divisions of the Globe.' The authoress, in her preface, pleads for a preliminary acquaintance on the part of the scholar with the map of the world, and, this condition satisfied, she hopes that her book may prove of use as 'a child's guide to the map.' Physical and political geography are combined, and the effort is made to write in a style sufficiently pictorial or descriptive to make the book attractive for reading lessons. Her imaginary trip in the 'Seagull' yacht round Great Britain, will, for instance, prove a very pleasant mode of taking on board a considerable amount of cargo which, in a drier form, would have been far less readily received. Miss Mason seldom soars above the heads of her pupils; in fact, sometimes she is so plain of speech that her descriptions read as if she wished to be sarcastic, as when, in describing the legislative functions of Parliament, she says, 'of course this leads to a great deal of talking, and the word "Parliament" means talking—the Houses of Parliament are the Talking Houses.' The book is illustrated with many fairly executed woodcuts, and questions are given at the close of the sections.

From Mr. Elliot Stock.—'The Bibliography of Ruskin: a Bibliographical List arranged in chronological order of the published writings in prose and verse of John Ruskin, M.A. (from 1834 to 1881).' Fifth edition, revised and enlarged. The eccentricity which leads the author of the 'Seven Lamps' to eschew the ordinary trade avenues for introducing his works to the public must have increased the difficulty which beset the author of this carefully compiled volume, but he has now so far overcome all obstacles that in this, his fifth edition, he has tabulated no fewer than 226 items, varying in importance, from a newspaper-letter up to the ponderous architectural tome. The wise addition of a section of blank pages for MS. annotations at the beginning and end of the catalogue will afford an opportunity for interesting notes.

From Messrs. Ward, Lock, & Co.—'Old Faiths in New Light.' By Newman Smith. The author of this work tells us in his preface that he has endeavoured to meet what he believes to be a growing need of intelligent people by 'gathering materials of faith which have been quarried by many specialists in their own departments of biblical study or scientific research, but which to a large extent have been left by them in a disconnected or fragmentary state, and by endeavouring to put these results of recent scholarship together according to one leading idea, in a modern construction of old faiths.' Beginning with a chapter on the idea of development and the new questions about old faiths, he deals with the historical growth of the Bible; the course of moral education and progress of revelation; the growth of knowledge and scientific tendency of the Bible; the culmination in the Christ; the unfinished world and its completion; the process of the resurrection and the end. His conclusion is that the Christian apologist has nothing to fear from the growth of science or from increasing light, but that reverently and humbly, but nothing doubting, he may follow wherever new paths of knowledge seem opening to our approach; and 'though he goes down into the depths or wanders through realms of strange shadows and endless confusions, nevertheless, after he has traversed all the spheres into which thought can find entrance, if he remains true to the Spirit sent for his guidance, his better self—like Dante following Beatrice from world to world—he shall find himself at last by the gates of Paradise, walking in a cloud of light, full of melodious voices.'

(Boston, U.S.) new No.—Art and Letters (Remington) edited by J. Comyns Carr, with several elaborate page engravings and other cuts.—'London catalogue of periodicals, magazines and reviews' (Longmans & Co.) an indispensable companion for every bookseller.—'Out of the Hurly-Burly' (Ward, Lock, & Co.) 6th edition, by Max Adeler, with all the original Engravings by A. B. Frost.—Beeton's Encyclopædia (Ward, Lock, & Co.) new part, with numerous interesting articles illustrated.—'Hood's Own,' sixpenny edition (Ward, Lock, & Co.) with the original illustrations.—Universal Instructor (Ward, Lock, & Co.) new part, containing much interesting and instructive matter, illustrated.

MAGAZINES.—St. James's Magazine puts in the forefront a tale which, as it proceeds, certainly justifies its title, 'The Wicked Woman,' and it has many interesting papers, including a review of poets and playwrights of the present time, and under the title of 'A Neglected Exhibition' a most useful notice of the Gallery of Diploma Pictures at the Royal Academy.—In the Churchman's Shilling Magazine (Houlstons) Miss Howell's new story, 'Pauline Cameron; or Saddled and Bridled,' opens well and promises to be as attractive and healthy as her tales always are. 'The Life Story of Flowerless Plants,' by N. D'Anvers, with its effective illustrations, will open up a new field to many readers; and the Rev. H. H. Moore's 'Wanted! a Nineteenth Century Church,' ought to set architects and parsons a-thinking. While we have thus a sketch of what might be and ought to be, we have in 'Transformations at Steeple Eastham,' by J. F., an amusing retrospect of things as they were in our country churches in days gone by. The Rev. J. O. Bagdon also writes clearly and thoughtfully on 'Church Finance.'—The Church Sunday School Magazine (S. S. Institute) puts first a paper by Canon B. F. Smith, on 'Sunday Scholars from Board Schools,' in which he dwells on the way in which the Church may supply that which from her standpoint is wanting in the education given under the Board system. A variety of papers and notes on lessons make up an interesting number.—Aunt Judy's Magazine (Bogue), in addition to much attractive fiction, has a paper illustrated with woodcuts on 'The Social Ranks of Old Japan,' which will attract young readers; and a pretty song by Viscountess Folkestone.—Fraser's Magazine (Longmans) continues its serial tales, and gives a charming essay on 'The Poetry of Dante Gabriel Rossetti,' by Thomas Bayne. 'Basuto' is an interesting paper on the African race which give its name to 'Basuto-land;' and in 'The French Privateers, No. 1, Mr. Laughton gives the first of what promises to be a good series on a comparatively untouched subject.—The Girl's Own Paper ('Leisure Hour' Office) continues to present an attractive assortment of fiction, poems, and papers on fancy work and domestic economy, and this month has a gardening contribution by Cotsford Dick, upon 'Annuals.'—The Philanthropist (Hutchings & Crowsley), although charities form its raison d'être, has no word of comment to offer on the merits or demerits of the three Charity Handbooks, copies of which it acknowledges, although in each there is interesting matter for notice.—The British Trade Journal devotes considerable space to the Exhibition of Bicycles and Tricycles in London, and gives illustrations of some of the principal exhibits. Its leading articles are admirably written.—Household Words (C. Dickens & Evans) is a marvel of fiction, for it gives seven complete stories and a continuation of one already begun. The 'Editor's Note-Book' discusses in pleasant fashion current events from Coroners' duties up to the Pantomimes and the Electric Light; and in the miscellaneous articles there is matter to suit every taste.

MR. CLARK RUSSELL'S SEA NOVELS.

JOHN HOLDSWORTH: CHIEF MATE.

3rd Edition, crown 8vo. handsomely bound in cloth, price 6s.

'Fascinating reading.'—THE ATHENÆUM.

'The author of "John Holdsworth, Chief Mate," has touched on a striking psychological problem, which he has illustrated with considerable dramatic force. Many such cases are on record, and the author deserves considerable credit for the accuracy and tact with which he has seized the interesting side of an obscure mental disease, avoiding at the same time any tendency to enlarge on mere professional detail.'—THE DAILY NEWS.

'This is one of the most powerful and thrillingly interesting stories that we have read for a long time. We finished it at a sitting, and we venture to predict that most of its readers will do the same. The interest never flags for a moment, and one of the most remarkable things about it is the varied power the author unconsciously shows he possesses. We feel ourselves part and parcel of the life on board the "Meteor," as she leaves her mooring-place and sails through the "Downs" to the open sea.' THE EDINBURGH COURANT.

'It would be noteworthy were it only for the excellence of its style, but besides this its conception is striking and novel, and the author's hand shows no trace of weakness or want of skill from the first page to the last. The incidents of the early part of the voyage are described with a graphic fidelity and minuteness, somewhat puzzling, perhaps, to landsmen, but which prove the author well versed in all nautical mysteries, if not a sailor by profession. We prophesy for this novel a decided success, and congratulate its author on having fairly won his spurs.'—THE GRAPHIC.

'It ("John Holdsworth") interested us so deeply as to steal from us several hours of sleep. John Holdsworth is a perfectly brave, perfectly truthful, and affectionate and finely-gifted Englishman.'—THE LITERARY WORLD.

'The book is really one of the freshest and prettiest stories that have appeared for a long time. There is in it a delightful absence of all straining after effect, and it is perhaps partly owing to this simplicity of style that the story is highly effective. Altogether it is a thoroughly beautiful, wholesome, enthralling story. Everybody ought to read it, and everybody with a heart ought to thank the author for having written it. It is one of those books which make one hope that, in spite of sensational trash, the heart of romance-writing is not wholly lost; a book fit at once for "young men and maidens, old men and children"; for even the boys would linger delightedly over the record of adventure, and every true heart that has grown to maturity—and therefore suffered—must sympathise with the joys and sorrows of John and Dolly.'—THE MORNING POST.

'The early chapters of this story have not often been surpassed for truthfulness of description. To read them is nearly as exhilarating as the run down Channel which they describe. We seem to smell the crisp, healthy salt breezes; our blood runs in our veins like quicksilver; we can hardly help joining in the sailors' dance and song round the capstan; we do not believe (such is the glamour thrown over our eyes and minds) that there ever was or ever can be such a thing as sea-sickness. But if there is such a malady, and if any of our readers have a dread of encountering it, let them peruse the first hundred pages of "John Holdsworth." They will feel almost all the delights of a sea-voyage without any of its disagreeableness or danger. For, alas! there is danger, there is disaster to be encountered as we get further on in the story. Danger so real, disaster so horrible and appalling, that we marvel how the writer can have written so bright and joyous a prelude to so ghastly and terrible a tragedy. The pathos becomes terror: the pain verges upon agony. But shipwrecks cannot be made with rose-water. . . . There can be no question that the author of "John Holdsworth" has described with a vigour which reminds us of the best parts of the shipwreck in "Don Juan," the theme which he may have been either right or wrong to choose. . . . We have enjoyed this book so heartily ourselves that we shall be quite sorry for all persons capable of appreciating a really good novel into whose hands it does not happen to fall.'—THE STANDARD.

Shortly, in 3 vols. price 31s. 6d.

THE LADY MAUD.

A Narrative of the Loss of a Schooner Yacht.

By W. CLARK RUSSELL.

WRECK OF THE GROSVENOR.

3rd Edition, crown 8vo. handsomely bound, 6s.

'We can have no hesitation in pronouncing this narrative of "the mutiny of the crew" of the "Grosvenor," and the loss of the ship when trying to make the Bermudas, the most masterly piece of work as a novel of adventure that we have come upon for many a day. The interest of the tale we may frankly call absorbing—sometimes almost uncomfortably so—and it is admirably sustained from first to last. The devices to which Royle and the faithful boatswain—a very fine character—aided by Mary Robertson, who turns out a perfect heroine, though always gentle and womanly, resort to save their lives from the murderous scheme of the crew, the final hand-to-hand fight with the mutineers, and the furious storm through which the gallant ship, though manned only by four hands, one of them nearly helpless through clumsiness and terror, rides triumphantly till she at last springs a leak, are all told with marvellous force and spirit, and yet in a matter-of-fact and simple way that serves all the better to bring out the real horrors of the scenes through which we pass. The author's turn for descriptions of sea-scenery in storm or calm we could only do justice to by quotations for which we have not room, so can only give a hearty recommendation to readers to make acquaintance with them and the rest of this truly excellent story for themselves.'—GRAPHIC.

'The sea and seamen have never been so well described, nor so many thrilling, yet all possible, incidents brought together so consistently or so effectively. The author has done for the merchant-sailor what Marryat did for the man-o-war's man, and has done it more completely, because with a more thorough single-mindedness. If Dana and Defoe had written together they could not have produced anything better. The truth, the freshness, and the power of the story are wonderful, but they gain additional charm from the simple and modest manner in which it is told. In short, the book is a true work of art, and of an art the secret of which has long been supposed to be lost.'—VANITY FAIR.

A SAILOR'S SWEETHEART.

4th Edition, crown 8vo. handsomely bound, 6s.

'One cannot read the story fast enough; and even when most anxious to skip in order to find out what is to happen, one feels obliged to read straight on, even in spite of the technical details, which are necessarily more or less unintelligible to a landsman. And yet the book cannot be called a novel in the ordinary sense of the term. It is not a story with a plot turning upon love. There is no plot in it, and the love tale has no intricacies, but goes right on, and only helps to increase the interest of the adventures and to ornament the book by its good taste and simple feeling.'

THE ATHENÆUM.

'There are few things finer in the whole range of English fiction, from the days of Defoe downwards, than the account in the work before us of how the sailing ship "Waldershare" doubled Cape Horn—it is not like a powerful picture, but is a tremendous reality. Truth and knowledge are written in every line and word. He gives us the sailor as he is, and, without the least straining after poetical effect, makes us see and realise the fascination of the sea for those who know it, not as mere poets or painters, but out of familiar intimacy with its most terrible as well as its commonest phases.'

GRAPHIC.

'Let anyone read the most life-like pages of Defoe—the man of all others who knew how to give an air of everyday reality to the purest fictions of his brain—and then let him read one of Mr. Russell's excellent sea novels, and he will soon perceive the difference between the best-feigned truth that was ever written, and the simple, though sometimes startling, truth of a story told by a man who has seen or done or suffered nearly every thing that he describes. We have not space to quote the description of the "Waldershare's" running down the Thames from London to Gravesend, or of her encounter with the iceberg near Cape Horn. But the man who wrote those descriptions must have poetry in his soul, as well as truth in his heart.'—STANDARD.

'"A Sailor's Sweetheart" is most emphatically an interesting book. We will not give a single hint about the course of the story, because the main charm of the book lies in the manner whereby the attention and expectation are kept at a high strain. One never knows what is coming next. We can only promise those who read the novel a few sensations such as they cannot have often had before. In conclusion, we will add that along with all this artistic accomplishment, "A Sailor's Sweetheart" is a healthy, honest, innocent book.'

VANITY FAIR.

ROUND THE YULE LOG:

Norwegian Folk and Fairy Tales.

By P. CHR. ASBJÖRNSSEN.

Translated by H. L. BRÆKSTAD.

With an Introduction by EDMUND W. GOSSE.

Illustrated by 100 Original Designs by the First Norwegian Artists.

PRESS NOTICES.

'So admirably written, so richly illustrated a book for "children of all ages" we have not for a long time seen.'—ATHENÆUM.

'The tales are quite of the proper stuff, quaint and comical.....The illustrations by Norwegian hands are good; some of a most exciting, not to say terrific, kind, others humorous and, again, graceful; and all cleverly drawn.'—TIMES.

'The tales rendered into English by Mr. Brækstad may be most heartily recommended both to children and to amateurs of story-comparing.'
SATURDAY REVIEW.

'In brief, this is an addition to English literature which children will love and which their parents will appreciate none the less.....The tales which have pleased us most of all are the simple narratives of the author's experiences among the fishermen, hunters, farmers, and wood-cutters of to-day.'—ACADEMY.

'The variety of invention which these tales display is really very remarkable.'—DAILY NEWS.

'Some of the engravings, which are of foreign design and execution, must be pronounced superior to the average of book illustrations.'
ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

'A marvellous multum in parvo.'—THE CHURCHMAN.

HUDSON'S GREEK CONCORDANCE.

A Critical Greek and English Concordance of the New Testament.

Prepared by CHARLES F. HUDSON, B.A., under the direction of H. L. HASTINGS, Editor of THE CHRISTIAN.
Revised and completed by EZRA ABBOTT, D.D., LL.D., Professor of New Testament Criticism and Interpretation in the Divinity School of Harvard University. Crown 8vo. pp. 532, 7s. 6d.

It contains in a Pocket Volume:

I. References to all places where every Greek word in the New Testament may be found—four or five constantly recurring particles excepted.

II. All the English words and phrases by which these Greek words are rendered, both in the text and in the margin of the Authorised Version.

III. The various readings of GRIESBACH, LACHMANN, TISCHENDORF, and TREGELLES, and the recently discovered but very ancient SINAITIC MANUSCRIPT.

IV. An index of English Words, by which persons entirely unacquainted with Greek can find the original term for any English word in the New Testament.

This book is highly commended by Drs. LIGHTFOOT, WESTCOTT, ANGUS, SCHAFF, and many others; and was used by all the Westminster Revisers, as well as by their American coadjutors, in preparing the New Revision. It is intelligible to the mere English student, and is specially useful to the most learned and critical Greek scholars. For an intelligent and critical examination into the merits of the New Revision, no book in existence is so valuable as this.

HOW TO USE IT.

One need not know a word of Greek to make good use of 'Hudson's Greek Concordance.' The Index, pp. 441-482, meets the needs of any intelligent student of the English Bible.

Suppose one wishes to know the precise meaning of the word 'nurture,' in the passage 'Bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.' First turn to the Index, and look for the word, which comes in alphabetical order, in the middle of page 465, thus: 'nurture, 305.' Turn then to page 305, and look over the page, noticing the words printed in black type, and in the middle of the second column is 'nurture, Eph. vi. 4; instruction, 2 Tim. iii. 16; chastening, Heb. xii. 5, 7, 11; chastisement, Heb. xii. 8.' The Greek word stands above the English, but it need not be read to see that the word rendered nurture occurs six times in the New Testament; once it is translated 'nurture,' once 'instruction,' three times 'chastening,' and once 'chastisement,' indicating that NURTURE includes the entire work of training up children.

'This work has compelled the warmest encomiums from the Bishops and scholars of the Church, and received a special tribute from the chairman on behalf of the entire Company of the Revisers of the New Testament. The fact that this book was constantly used by all the Revisers, and that many of their alterations had been given in the earlier editions of "Hudson's Concordance," gives it an imprimatur which students will know how to appreciate.'—THE BOOKSELLER.

FROM INDIVIDUAL REVISERS.

From J. B. LIGHTFOOT, D.D., LL.D., Bishop of Durham, formerly Hulsean Professor of Divinity in the University of Cambridge.

'Your Concordance is of the greatest use to the Revisers. All my neighbours have their copies on the table when we are at our work.'

From B. F. WESTCOTT, D.D., Canon of Peterborough, formerly Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Cambridge.

'The Critical Greek and English Concordance is found to be an invaluable help in our Revision.'

From Dr. JOSEPH ANGUS, President of Regent's Park Baptist College, London.

'Some time ago, when I was in the United States, I obtained the book, being greatly pleased with it. I had also shown it to members of our Company, who were as much delighted with it as myself. You may be sure, therefore, that the volume is specially welcome. I know nothing of the kind so complete.'

From Dr. SAMUEL NEWTH, Principal of New College.

'I have used the work constantly for some years past, and have found it very trustworthy in its contents, and most convenient in its form. I can very warmly commend it as the completest and most useful work of its kind.'

From Prof. H. B. HACKETT, D.D., LL.D., Rochester Theological Seminary.

'I regard it as an invaluable help to every critical student of the Greek Testament. The names of the authors are a sufficient voucher for its accuracy.'

From Prof. TIMOTHY DWIGHT, D.D., New Haven Theological Seminary.

'The book is worthy of high commendation, and will, I am sure, be very useful to all who may possess themselves of it.'

From J. HENRY THAYER, D.D., Prof. New Test. Interpretation, Andover Theological Seminary.

'There are multitudes, I am sure, not only in the ministry, but among educated laymen, whose wants will be met by this complete, compact, and cheap little work. It deserves a hearty welcome from all the friends of Biblical study. It is one of the few books regularly carried by me to our monthly Revisers' meeting, and is kept always on hand on my study table.'

From President THOMAS CHASE, of Haverford College.

'The book is a most useful and indispensable aid to all critical students of the New Testament. Nothing could be more thorough and complete than its execution, nothing more convenient than its form, size, and arrangement.'

From Dr. M. B. RIDDLE, of Hartford Theological Seminary.

'As a tool in Bible study, I prize it most of all that I possess.'

Special Number of HARPER'S Magazine.

Messrs. SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON, & Co. beg to announce that the April Issue of Harper's Magazine will be a Special Number, which they expect will rival the success of the Christmas issue.

They will be grateful for early intimation of the increased orders of the Trade in view of the great difficulty in promptly reprinting the illustrated portions of the Number. The first edition will be of 24,000 copies, and they are unable to promise that demands above the standing orders can be supplied from this edition unless ordered at once.

The number will include 24 contributions and over 60 illustrations, five of them full-page, including three on plate-paper. The variety and interest of the papers have never, they think, been approached, except in the Christmas number.

FICTION.

Mr. WILLIAM BLACK'S New Novel, 'SHANDON BELLS,' commences in this number, with full-page plate illustration by Mr. W. Small. This story, of Irish scenes and journalistic London—both specially interesting subjects at the present day—will, they believe, prove to be the most popular of Mr. Black's novels.

Besides another strong instalment of 'Anne,' with Illustration by Reinhart, there are a capital humorous tale, 'Poor Ogra-Moga,' with 6 clever illustrations by A. B. Frost; and a vigorous short story, 'An Hereditary Witness.' With these may be named, 'In days gone by,' a true love story from real life, with two engravings from miniatures.

ILLUSTRATED MISCELLANY.

'Mr. GLADSTONE at HAWARDEN,' written by H. W. Lucy, with illustrations for which Mr. Gladstone has kindly furnished facilities, is a peculiarly timely and interesting paper. The illustrations include a fine portrait of Mr. Gladstone, full-page, on plate paper; portraits of Mrs. Gladstone, W. H. and Herbert Gladstone; Mr. Gladstone in his Library, a lovely miniature of the child Gladstone at two years old with his sister, views of old Hawarden Castle and the new residence, and facsimile of Mr. Gladstone's autograph letter to Lord Beaconsfield.

'Spanish Vistas,' I., by G. P. Lathrop, commences a series of superbly illustrated papers on Spain, with a full-page illustration, 'A Dream of Spain,' on plate paper, forming the frontispiece of the Number, and 16 other wood engravings.

'A Trial Balance of Decoration' shows the real progress of decorative art in the past three or four years, with six fine illustrations from recent American interiors.

'The History of Wood Engraving,' a sketch of the origins of the art, with five examples from early blocks, will be especially interesting to Harper readers.

'Silver San Juan,' with 12 Illustrations of Colorado scenery by Thomas Moran, gives a picturesque account of the American silver-mining region.

'Athena Parthenos,' on the recent discoveries at Athens, includes an engraving of the statue, the finding of which was telegraphed by the chief magistrate of Athens to the Lord Mayor of London.

The only non-illustrated paper, on 'What we Owe to the Trees,' while interesting to the general reader, will be of special value in the agricultural provinces.

The usual Editorial departments will also be included.

POETRY.

An Indian Poem, 'Love and Death,' by Mr. Edwin Arnold, covering some pages, is of remarkable beauty.

Another of ROBERT HERRICK'S Poems is given in Mr. E. A. Abbey's characteristic setting of Illustration. There is also a great variety of other poems.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

The Publishers of HARPER'S MAGAZINE beg to apologize to the Trade for the repeated difficulties in supplying second orders for the Magazine, especially for back numbers, which it is their intention to keep always in stock. They have increased their first supply of the American sheets, and first printing of the English sheets, steadily month by month, in response to the continuously increasing demand, and have also endeavoured to reprint back numbers promptly, but the demand has again and again outrun their expectations, to the great inconvenience of the Trade.

They regret to state that, despite the largely increased first edition of the March number, their supply is already exhausted. New editions of 2,000 copies of this number (including the 'Last Words of George Eliot'), and of 1,500 copies of the February number (including the paper on 'Henry Irving') are in preparation, and will be ready towards the middle of the month.

They can now supply all other back numbers (including the Christmas Number and that for May 1881, containing the George Eliot and Carlyle papers), except those for Dec. 1880, Jan. 1881, and Nov. 1881, which will be reprinted as soon as other demands upon the HARPER presses can be met. Notice will be given of the appearance of these reprints, and of the re-issue of bound volumes I. and II., which lack the above parts.

Advertisers are respectfully informed that, in view of the increased size of the edition, their favours should reach the Publishers not later than the 15th of the month. The rate for general advertising (not in special positions) is now £8 per page.

MISS BRADDON'S NOVELS.

Just published, price 2s. picture cover; 2s. 6d. cloth gilt, uniform with the Cheap Edition of Miss BRADDON's other Novels.

JUST AS I AM.

OPINION OF THE WORLD:—

"Just As I Am," Miss Braddon's latest novel, is as fresh, as wholesome, as enthralling, as amusing, as any of the stories with which, for a series of years, she has proved her title as queen of the circulating library; and the thought and polish which mark her more recent fictions in no way interfere with the nerve and "go" which originally made her reputation. "Just As I Am" is an excellent example of the author.

'Intended to be useful to Booksellers by enabling them to lay before their customers, in a classified form, the names of books, with their prices, which are most worthy of notice. In this way there is no doubt that individual Booksellers may spare themselves a great deal of time and labour.'—PUBLISHERS' CIRCULAR.
