I was very young, barely a year, the late Edmund Ross, M.P. for Clonmel—because I saw nothing in the objects of the association but to form a coalition with the authors of the coercion act. When I saw, however, that the division of the House of Commons was that Mr. Crawford stood with Peel, and that Mr. Shaw, Leiford, and other Tories in the House, against Mr. Crawford's motion for the total abolition of tithes, and that he subsequently told the whole world that Mr. Crawford's Radical proposals were calculated to turn out the Whigs, and that Mr. Coates in story, and seal, and in conversation, and in the House, on several occasions, and in the College of Ireland to me, I could no longer, without feeling myself utterly degraded in my

BRIGHTON.—On Friday evening last, Sept. 24th, the men of Brighton assembled at the present room at the house of the Rev. Mr. Hand-stre to be present at the release of their persecuted friend, James Brontierre O'Brien. To have seen the joy pictured on the countenances of every one present would have been the picture of the sufferings he had undergone in the cause of the people. The old, the young, the gay and the sad, were all there to pay a welcome tribute, to an honourable and virtuous man, and females vied with the men in the display of enthusiasm and sympathy. It was felt at their teacher being again among them. Mr. Woodward occupied the chair, supported on the right and left by Messrs. Flowers, Giles, Gage, Colling, Moring and the host of the good men and women. "We fought the good fight" in days gone by, with the fearless and undaunted O'Brien at their head. Monday, the room was again crowded, and we should say more numerous than on Friday evening; and we could not be so cold, and hardly standing room; all was again enthusiasm, nothing is wanted in Brighton more, than that O'Connor or O'Brien should pay a visit to give us a word of counsel.

ther in obtaining a Repeal of the Union, based on the principles of the People's Charter. An amendment was proposed and seconded in favour of which a vote was called. The result was in favour of the Repeal of the Union, which, on being put to the vote, was declared to be lost, and the original resolution carried by a large majority. Mr. Shorman then stated that he trusted that the repeal would show the way to the Northern Star, as that paper was the only one which would report the account of their proceedings. He then stated that the meeting was conducted with the greatest good feeling, and a few such meetings as these would soon show to the Irish people that the English Chartists were not so much to be feared as they were represented to be, and that they would be able to obtain the rights of the English, Irish, Scotch, and Welshmen, in despite of all opposition. The meeting resolved to meet again on Sunday week.

AT A MEETING of delegates at Seghill, on the 26th, inst., the following delegates were present: from Cramlington, Bedlington, Foreman's-row, Seghill, East Holywell, North Shields, and Newcastle, who were all instructed that their constituents would be asked to contribute £100 each to the fund then handed in. As, 6d. and Foreman's-row As, 6d. to begin with. The delegates passed resolutions pledging themselves to do their utmost to secure the best possible terms for the district after some other business of less importance, the meeting was adjourned to Sunday, Oct. 24th, when it will be resumed at North Shields, at 10.30 a.m.

AT THE USUAL weekly meeting, in the Cloth-market, little business of public interest transpired. The resolutions were mostly those of thanks to various individuals for services rendered.

ciation held their meeting on Sunday last, at their great room, No. 14, North Anne Street, Mr. Henry Wood presided, and the minutes of the last meeting were confirmed. Letters were read from Mr. John Copp, of Bristol, Mr. A. Russell, of Athboy, and Mr. T. McDonald, of Nevry. Mr. Froebahn gave notice of a meeting of the committee at the Island-bridge. Mr. Wood, after some remarks, moved the admission of Mr. Peter Dunn, whom he presented as a member of the committee. The proposition he had given, but whom he was prepared to say, had been weaned of his prejudices by the reasoning of the advocates of the People's Charter and the principles of the Reform Bill. The admission of Mr. Dunn, which was agreed to, the Chairman having been voted to the chairman, the meeting dispersed, after receiving notices for the enrolment of several new members.

MEDICAL ADVICE.
MESSRS. WILKINSON AND

HAVING devoted their Studies exclusively for many years to the successful treatment of the Venereal Disease, in all its various forms; also, to the frightful consequences resulting from that destructive practice, "Self Abuse," may be personally Consulted from Nine in the Morning till period, and Country Patients, by making only one personal visit, will receive such Advice and Medicines that will enable them to obtain a permanent and effectual Cure, when all other means have failed.

They hope that the successful, easy, and expeditious modethey have adopted, of eradicating every symptom of a certain disease, without any material alteration in diet, or hindrance of business, and yet preserving the constitution in full vigour, and free from injury, will establish their claims for support. As this Disease is one which is likely to be contracted whenever exposure takes place, it is not like many other visitors, once in life, but, on the contrary, one infection may scarcely have been removed, when another may unfortunately be imbibed; therefore, the practitioner requires real judgment in order to treat each particular case in such a manner as not merely to remove the present attack, but to preserve the constitution unimpaired, in case of a repetition at no distant period. The man of experience can avail himself of the greatest improvements in modern practice, by being able to distinguish between discharges of a specific and of a simple or mild nature, which can only be made by one in daily practice, after due consideration of all circumstances. In the same manner at birth, appearances often take place in children, which call for a proper knowledge and acquaintance with the disease, in order to discriminate their real nature, and which may be the means of sowing domestic discord, unless managed by the Surgeon with propriety and skill. Patients labouring under this disease, cannot be too cautious into whose hands they commit themselves.

The propriety of this remark is abundantly manifested, by the same party frequently passing the ordeal of several practitioners, before he is fortunate enough to obtain a perfect cure. The following are some of the many symptoms that distinguish this disease:—A general debility; eruption on the head, face, and body; ulcerated sore throats, scrofula, swellings in the neck, nodes on the same bones, cancers, fistula, pains in the head and limbs, which are frequently mistaken for rheumatism, &c. &c.
