THE CORDIAL BALM OF SYRIACUM.

Is gentlestimulant and renovator of the impaired functions of life, and is exclusively directed to the cure of the Generative System, whether constitutional or acquired, loss of sexual power, and debility arising from Syphilitic disease; and is calculated to afford relief in all cases of debility, and in all cases of solitary habits, have weakened the powers of the system, and fallen into a state of chronic debility, by which the constitution is brought into a plethoric state, and that nervous mentality keeps up with violence in individuals, in a state of anxiety for the remainder of life. The consequences arising from this dangerous disease, and are confined to its pure physical result, but, to wit, it is a source of the most violent and harassing mind into a fertile field of seductive error;—an gradual but total degradation of manhood;—in pernicious application of these inherent rights with the rights of the individual, and the rights of his species; bringing on premature decrepitude, and all the habits of old age—such a one carries with him the form and aspect of other men, but without the vigor and energy of that season, in which early youth bade him hope to attain. How many men cease to be men, or, at least, cease to enjoy manhood at thirty! How many at eighteen reach self the consequences of which, traveling out of the ordinary track of bodily ailment, convert the frame into a furnace of fire, and, by the ruthless nature, and impregning the wholesome stream of life with mortal poison ; conveying into families the seeds of disunion and unhappiness ; undermining domestic happiness and striking at the very soul of human intercourse.

The fearfully abused powers of the humane Generative System require the most cautious preservation; and the debility and disease resulting from early indurisdiction demand, for the cure of those dreadful diseases, the most judicious and the most delicate medicine most certain to be successful. It is for these cases Messrs. Perry and Co., particularly designed their CORDIAL BALM OF SYRACUM which is a medicine of the most delicate and agreeable nature, and moderate indulgence of their passions, have ruined their constitutions, or, in their way to the consummation of that deplorable state, are affected with many of those previous symptoms of debility, as approaching to the consummation of the disease of the system, obstinate glooms, excesses, irregularity, destruction of certain evacuations, weakness, total impotence, barrenness, &c.

As nothing can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, as there is nothing man in all inward wastings, loss of appetite, indigestion, and nervousness, causing dryness to the hands or limbs, obstinate coughs, shortness of breath, or consumptive habits. It possesses wonderful efficacy in all cases of syphilis, fits, head-ache, weak eyes, and all diseases of the nervous system. In all slight, confused thoughts, wandering of the mind, vapours, and melancholy; and all kinds of hysterical complaints are gradually removed by its use. And in all cases of the female constitution, which has been taken the firmest hold of the female constitution, in softening tonic qualities of the Cordial Balm of Symplics will warm and purify the blood and joints, and all morbid spirits, invigorate and restore the whole animal machine, and remove the usual impediment to maturity.

This medicine is particularly recommended to be taken before persons enter into the MATRIMONIAL STATE, lest in the event of procreation occurring, the innocent offspring should bear cramped upon its birth, and be liable to all the diseases of the nervous system, or evil eruptions of a malignant tendency, that are most assuredly introduced by the same neglect and imprudence.

(Observe the signature of R. and L. PERRY and thorough examination of the wrapper) are well known to the people of Europe and America, to be the most certain and effectual cure ever discovered for every stage and symptom of the Venereal Disease, in both sexes, including Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Secondary Syphilis, Stricture, Erysipelas, Weakness, Debility, and all the disorders of the Urinary Passages without loss of time, confinement, or hindrance from business. They have effected the most rapid and complete cure in all cases, but when salivation and all other means have failed; and are of the utmost importance to those afflicted with the Scorbatic Affections, Eruptions on any part of the body, Eruptions in the Skin, and Venereal Taint, being justly calculated to cleanse the blood from all foulness, counteract every morbid affection, and restore weak and emaciated constitutions to pristine health and vigour.

It is a melancholy fact that thousands fall victims to the Venereal Disease, from the carelessness of illiterate men; who by the use of that dear old medicament ruin the constitution, and alter the texture of the humors. The body, almost all sight, noise in the ears, deafness, obstinate gleets, nodules on the shin bones, ulcerated sores throat, dysentery, with nocturnal pain in the back, decay of the system, and the debility of the courtation ensues, and a melancholy death is a priori to their dreadful sufferings.

Messrs. Perry and Co., Surgeons, may be consulted as usual, at 19, Berners-street, Oxford-square, London, and 4, Great Charles-street, the City, between the Old and New Churches, on Wednesdays and on Sundays from Eleven till eight, in the Evening, and on Sundays from Eleven till One. Only one personal visit is required from a country patient, and the rest may be given by letter, as will be the means of effecting a permanent and effectual cure, after all other means have proved ineffectual.

SOMETHING FOR PRACTICE.

HOW TO GET THE LAND.

Most earnestly do we call the attention of every individual into whose hands this paper may fall, to the letter of Mr. O'CONNOR, outlining forth a plan or the concentration of the people's energies to obtain possession of a portion of LAND, whereto to commence a PRACTICAL EXPOSITION of the principles now so universally received amongst all classes. The public mind is fully ripe for the taking of such a step. Indeed, were the working people longer to delay the necessary steps requisite to give to the world a PRACTICAL development of what they mean by saying that "THE LAND is the only possible means of salvation," they would very shortly find that they were far behind public opinion.

The indications manifested throughout the popular ranks, that the time has arrived when some such step as that outlined by Mr. O'CONNOR must be taken, are both too numerous and too strong to be mistaken. There is a yearning desire on every hand for the elaboration, promulgation, and adoption of a plan having for its end and aim the uniting of PRACICES with theory.

At the time we write we have on the table a letter from another firm friend of the people, pointing out the imperative necessity of the step; and also outlining a plan mainly similar to Mr. O'CONNOR's, differing only in one or two particulars. Most likely we shall give publication to that letter next week.

With the determination expressed at the end of Mr. O'CONNOR's letter not to press the question of his Amended Organization for some time we cordially concur. The question he has now mooted of combining "social economy" with "political agitation" will call for much consideration on the part of the people; and the means by which the ends sought are to be accomplished, will require much attention, and much rethought. It is absolutely necessary that something of the kind should be prominent in any plan which the people now adopt. It was our conviction on this that dictated the allusion which in our former remarks on Mr. O'CONNOR's plan of organization, was made to the want of something which the people themselves should adopt.

It would not be expected that the necessary attention can be properly bestowed on so important an affair if there should be any undue and unnecessary hurrying on of the matter. The respective plans that may be propounded must be firstly canvassed over by the people in their several localities; and then, when should be holden for the purpose of maturing and functioning a uniform and consistent plan out of the whole.

ment of the respective schemes that may be propounded. This is a question of mighty import, and of deep interest. As such we shall view it and treat it. The best attention we can bestow shall be willingly applied; and we shall endeavour to guide public opinion to what we consider to be the right course.

courses of action in connection with it. A popular organization more powerful and more useful than any ever yet existing in this kingdom, may be formed on this basis, if only the proper means be taken to secure the protection of the law. That security may be had. It shall be a portion of our duty to point out no way.
