

[illegible]

WIMBORNE.—Mr. Baislow lectured here to a admiring and applauding audience last Wednesday evening so enlight.

BURY ST. EDMUNDS.—Mr. J. Campbell addressed a very large audience here on Thursday, and did good service to the cause. Twenty members were enrolled after the lecture.

PLYMOUTH.—Public meetings for the purpose of disseminating Chartist principles are held weekly on Thursday, at half-past seven in the evening, opposite the Gas Office.

LEITH.—Mr. David Ross, of Manchester, delivered his second lecture, in the Chartist Hall, on Monday, last week. The lecturer gave great satisfaction, and a vote of thanks to him was unanimously adopted.

fully share. We think it, however, unjust that your Majesty should be involved in the horrors which must arise from a people destitute of food; and we are convinced that, when the poor-rates fail, which they must do at no distant period, if the Corn Laws are not repealed, the country will realise the awful truth, that famine and civil order cannot long co-exist.

"We have frequently appealed to the Parliament and in vain. We turn, as our last hope, to your Majesties and implore you to command your Ministers to propose the repeal of the food taxes, and to prevent the

CAMPSTALL BRIDGE.

Mr. John Burrows, weaver, Mill Brow.
Mr. Henry Sidebotham, spinner, Mellor.
Mr. Josiah Fielding, carder, Mellor.
Mr. James Hamilton, weaver, Ludworth.
Mr. James Stoper, spinner, ditto.
Mr. Thomas Armstrong, carder, Mill Brow.
Mr. James Kershaw, weaver, Marple.
Mr. James Hadfield, publican, Mellor, sub-Treasurer.
Mr. Joseph Taylor, shoe-maker, Campstall, sub-Secretary.

Mansfield—Mr. S. Dobson, News Agent, 519, T
 vedere-street.
 Mr. W., is to be consulted every day at his residence, from Nine in the Morn'ng till Ten at Night, and on Sundays from Nine till Two.
 OBSERVE—13, TRAFALGAR-ST. LEEDS
 Attendance every Thursday in Bradford, at No
 George-street, facing East Brook Chaple.

1. I had a friend, a person quite in years, who attacked with this painful affection. I recommend him to try Mr. Kerman's preparations, and he got as speedy a remedy as I did myself.

SAMUEL MANDUM

P.S.—My friend's name is Parker. He resides in Drury.

AGENTS.—Leeds—John Heaton, 7, Briggs
Joseph Haigh, 116; Briggate: Edward Smeton
B. Smith, Medicine vender, 66, Bowditch-street, 1, mandottos; Stocks & Co., Medicine venders, & Kirkgate.

DEATHS.

On the 27th ult., Agnes, the infant daughter of the Rev. J. B. Birwhistle, of Richmond, Va., aged 10 months.

On Thursday, the 21st ult., at Grace hospital, Capt. William Edge, R.N., one of the naval staff, died of pneumonia, aged 61.

