

which is to uphold the rights of the people at all hazards. Mr. West then left the office. The conduct of the police has excited universal disgust among all classes. On Monday evening, a petition meeting was held on the Dock Green, and the petition adopted. The meeting was numerous, and great numbers of the "blues" were present in disguise, but no interruption took place. Mr. West also delivered two discourses on Sunday, in the same place, without interruption.—There will be a public meeting on Monday next, in the Freemason's lodge, to adopt a petition to Parliament, for the investigation into the conduct of the police. That is the way to beat them.

h, and the principal person that the company entered into the Museum to await the result; as Adair promised to call them in if he succeeded. After repeated attempts (which lasted forwards of an hour), to mesmerize two individuals, Adair, a great measure failed, for though he put one of them into a demopsey, the other was lasting. This circumstance increased the doubts already existing in regard to the truth of this peculiar science, if such it may be called. On the evening, however, these doubts were partially removed, by Mr. Adair's successful operation on a young female in the service of Dr. Thom, a medical gentleman of this city, who came forward, informed the audience, that Mr. Adair had successfully operated on this young woman, at his instance, in the fore-part of the day.

highly attracted to it after the first outings, and, as it were, in its rough and primitive condition have been informed that not less than a score of men with perfect ease and safety, can be conveyed in a somewhat similar vehicle to a Bath chair, and turns the corners with facility than might be supposed. The pace up to the Laverham road, towards Hanley was twelve miles per hour. The principal inconvenience to be apprehended is from the fact that the wheels are so good machines. We understood that the ingenious inventor has left this country, taken up his permanent abode on the coast notwithstanding, which we hope he will be proud of the object we are attempting to do, but that it may be a matter of public and private emolument. — Reading Paper.

uniform by an inhuman deed. The commander also directed every man to be confined and taken to the arsenal, where he found out. This well-advanced order was read in every assembly, and the men were ordered to be expected party was soon discovered at military prison, and the colonel issued the great pleasure he had in reassigning the men to barracks, was a consolation to the men, as there was none of his old and valued soldiers, recreant, undisciplined and unprincipled, in his brief military career, had been delinquent. The accused was yesterday morning, and he was ordered to be taken and handed over to the civil authorities of the corps, and remanded for formation. He was hoisted out of barracks members of his own regiment, so indignant at this disgraceful conduct. — Emmett depression of the trade, being accepted; thus again confirming, who will look for remuneration of the Scotch furnaces is referred to the fact that the Staffordshire market, but without material effect. The superiority of re-manufactured iron was asserted and; and a determination was expressed to continue to support which has lately been introduced in the neighbourhood, namely, that on in a heated state direct from the puddling furnace, by which the ing into pigs and re-heating would be avoided, and the consumption of materially reduced; and it is probable expression expressed by two or three others, to compete with the Scotch with the superior quality of Stafford-though it did not meet with the same success, may be not only disadvantageous. The fluctuations in the market are always been great, but the prices have been below the cost of production, and the opportunity for speculation or investment in the state of the money-market can be seen.—Birmingham Gazette.

Same day, aged 60, Hannah, widow of William Rhodes, Esq., of Queen-square, Essex.

